ABOUT ARC GATEWAY

Since 1954, ARC Gateway has been providing quality services to children and adults with developmental disabilities in our community. The support that we offer begins at birth and continues through senior adulthood.

- The Pearl Nelson Child Development Center provides early intervention services and pediatric therapies.
- The Discovery Gateway Early Childhood Learning Center is an inclusive childcare center that promotes educational well-being for all children.
- The Pollak Training Center provides adults with basic education classes, computer courses and art instruction. PTC also offers training and jobs through the subcontract projects handled on the workfloor and the ARC Gateway Plant Nursery.
- Pollak Industries provides training and jobs through the production of plant sleeves, survey stakes and concrete products.
- Community Based Employment connects people with jobs at the I-10 Welcome Center, the I-10 weigh stations, or enclaves at Armstrong World Industries and Gulf States Recycling.
- Employment Services helps people find jobs in the community and succeed at work.
- The Senior Adult Program at Bayview Senior Center provides health, social and leisure activities for senior citizens.
- Supported Living and In-Home Support ensure that individuals receive the assistance that they need to live in their own homes in the community.
- Group Homes provide opportunities for people to live in the community while receiving support and companionship.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A MEMBER OF ARC GATEWAY?

People with developmental disabilities accomplish great things every day. They are our friends, neighbors and coworkers; and they enrich our community in countless ways.

For more than 50 years, ARC Gateway has been proud to provide life-enhancing programs that help the people we serve realize their dreams. With the support of our members, we are able to sustain our existing services and develop innovative new ways to help children and adults with developmental disabilities reach their full potential.

Additionally, our members help us provide the people we serve and our community with valuable resources. ARC Gateway connects people with information, educational opportunities and a supportive network of friends, families and caregivers.

Your membership also strengthens our presence as we advocate for funding and legislation that benefits people with disabilities. After suffering rate reductions for several consecutive years, our advocacy efforts are more important than ever. Your membership makes our voice stronger and helps to ensure that the people we serve will always have access to the supports they need.
